This passage also appears to be a scene from a movie or a , book, spe cifically a fantasy or science fiction genre. It describes a character, Michael, who has the ability to bring the , dead back to life and help them stand up.
The passage includes vivid and emotionally charged descriptions of Jacob'S r esurrection, , such as Jacob'S eyes moisten and Jacob'S mouth moving.
The use of religious imagery, such as Michael kissing Jacob on , the forehead and Jacob'S eyes "bursting" with love and amazement, creates a sen se of transcendence and spirituality. The scene ends , on a note of anticipati on, as Jacob takes his first step and Michael warns him that he is not yet , r eady.
